7 KUGELWALD AM GLUNGEZER

The mountain adventure world in the Glungezer mountain with the world's biggest wooden ball run. New and exciting fun for families and groups in a unique world of adventure: Large wooden balls run for 500 metres through the high forest along channels made of stone pine. The "Kugelwald am Glungezer" ball run is located directly next to the "Halsmarter" lift station at 1,560 m above sea level. Apart from several mounting elements, only natural wood has been used at the Kugelwald. The tracks stretch over a distance of more than 500 m at various heights and angles between the weathered pine, fir and spruce trees on the Glungezer mountain. For the high start, the ball is taken up in the cable lift, the inclined lift, or is set off from the tree house, which stands on stilts at the centre of the approximately 8,000 m<sup>2</sup> large playing area. Building enthusiasts of all sizes will really enjoy the oversized "forest construction set" with half-standards and large stone pine blocks, because creating a customized ball run requires a certain amount of strength and fantasy.

Balls are loaned at the park entrance for a deposit of EUR 50.00 and a lending fee of EUR 25.00 per group. Refreshments and toddler play area at Gasthof Halsmarter!
